

St. Patrick's Day 2011

Wednesday March 17th 2011 Nottingham City will again be even greener! The annual St.Patrick's Day Parade will make its way from the Forest to the Market Square. There will be a free openair concert throughout the afternoon showcasing the best of Irish traditional music, song and dance.

This year our festival 'twin' is the county of Offaly. We are inviting and helping local schools to prepare costumes and we offer an open invitation to other cultural groups in the city community to come and parade with us.

So Céad Mile Fáilte to all who take part.
